

Maine Board of Licensure in Medicine

Board of Licensure
in Medicine
STATE OF MAINE

The Maine Board of Licensure in Medicine was established by the 1895 State Legislature and is responsible for protecting the health and safety of the public by determining who may be licensed for medical practice in the state and by regulating the medical practice of those licensees. The board is composed of 6 physician and 3 non-physician public representatives appointed by the governor.

Two members of the Maine board have served as past president/chair of the FSMB: Adam P. Leighton, M.D., from 1945 to 1946 and George L. Maltby, M.D., from 1973 to 1974. In addition, Randal C. Manning, MBA, CMBE currently serves on the FSMB Board of Directors as a Director-at-Large.
